Grants to the Jewish Community

Summer 2011

Improving the well-being of the poor and vulnerable in our hometowns and around the world

Hello from Baltimore!

For many years now, the Weinberg Foundation has done its best to keep in touch with the community, and this newly launched annual newsletter is the next step in that effort.

As many of you know, the Foundation's mission is to provide grants to nonprofits whose missions are focused on meeting basic needs and enhancing an individual's ability to meet those needs. Within that focus, emphasis is placed on older adults and the Jewish community, both nationally and in our "hometowns" including Baltimore, Northeastern Pennsylvania, Hawaii, and Israel.

Like many in the world of philanthropy, the Weinberg Foundation felt the sting of the recession. But thanks to prudent investment strategy, operational efficiency, and ever stringent evaluation of grant requests, our assets once again are approximately $2 billion and our annual total grant distributions have remained consistent.

The Foundation is proud of its commitment to the Jewish community, and this newsletter is a summary of all such grants during the past fiscal year which ended February 28, 2011.

We are pleased to report that in total the Foundation approved 74 grants to Jewish organizations for more than $46 million. Total grant distributions for the Jewish community and the community-at-large for the year exceeded $86 million.

Here are just a few of this year's highlights:

- The Weinberg Foundation continued its long-standing partnership with the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (JDC), awarding $18 million in grants to the organization. JDC is the largest single grant recipient of the Foundation.
- The Foundation announced the establishment of a new five-year, $10 million grant to fund emergency services for Holocaust survivors residing in North America through the Conference of Jewish Materials Claims Against Germany (The Claims Conference).
- The Foundation gave a $3 million grant to the Associated Jewish Community Federation of Baltimore for its annual campaign and almost $7 million in additional grants to agencies of the Associated, including CHAI, the Center for Jewish Education, and Jewish Community Services.
- The Foundation announced a major $10 million grant to Levindale Hebrew Geriatric Center and Hospital in Baltimore. This is the largest gift to a long-term care facility in the Foundation's history. The grant is part of a construction project that will set a new standard for excellence in elder care.

The Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Foundation has taken a lead funding role in the development of urban “Green House” residences for older adults, a radical departure from traditional nursing homes, featuring an intentionally small community for a group of older adults and staff. This past fiscal year, the Foundation contributed $1,225,000 as part of our overall capital grant award to support the first urban Green House residence in the country at the Chelsea Jewish Nursing Home in Massachusetts. While that facility is already up and running, the Foundation recently committed just over $2 million to Maryland’s first Green House residence for older adults, The “Green House” Residences at Stadium Place, which is under construction in Baltimore’s Waverly community and expected to be operational by early 2012.

But perhaps the single-most noteworthy accomplishment of the past fiscal year is the Weinberg Holocaust Survivors Emergency Assistance Fund. “The Weinberg Fund” is providing a range of emergency services to survivors, including medical equipment and medications, dental care, transportation, food, and short-term home care in the communities where they reside. It is estimated that there are more than 500,000 Holocaust survivors worldwide with at least 144,000 living in North America. The remaining Nazi victims live mostly in Israel and the Former Soviet Union. One in four aging survivors lives alone in the U.S. and an estimated 37% live at or below the poverty level, a level that is five times the rate of other older adults in the United States.

In the following pages, the Foundation has identified all grants for $50,000 or more that were distributed to Jewish organizations worldwide during the past fiscal year. Please take a few moments to review this summary report.

If you have any questions or comments, please feel free to contact the Foundation. Thank you for your time and your commitment to the Jewish community.

Sincerely,

Rachel Garbow Monroe
President

Donn Weinberg
Chairman

community worldwide and giving to those in need throughout the United States*

With total assets of approximately $2 billion, the Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Foundation is one of the largest private charitable foundations in the United States, funding nonprofits that provide direct services to poor and vulnerable people, primarily in the U.S. and Israel.

Foundation grants are allocated through several program areas and are focused on meeting basic needs such as shelter, nutrition, health, and socialization and on enhancing an individual's ability to meet those needs. Older Adults and Workforce Development are national programs while Basic Human Needs & Health; Disabilities; Education, Children, Youth & Families; and General Community Support fund direct service providers in our “hometown” communities of metropolitan Baltimore, Northeastern Pennsylvania, Hawaii, and Israel. The Maryland Small Grants Program (MSGP) includes all Foundation grantmaking areas, funding nonprofits which are headquartered in Maryland or provide direct service primarily to Maryland residents.

This past fiscal year, the Foundation approved $46 million in grants to Jewish organizations. Total grant distributions for the Jewish community and the community-at-large for the year exceeded $86 million.
